Imaginary Birds.

The phoenix, as everybody knows, gathers dry sticks to make its funeral pyre, which it then contrives to set alight, and is presently consumed in the flames. From its ashes a worm crawls out, and, being gradually covered with feathers, takes the form of its parent bird. The eagle, which fears nothing else, dreads the approach of venomous serpents. To avert evil from its eaglets it places two agates in its nest. When its beak grows too long it breaks off the superfluous piece against a rock. The serpe is a very powerful bird, and takes immense flights. It is fond of the company of ships, but if a vessel happens to be an unusually swift sailer, it closes its wings and sinks to the bottom of the sea. A sentimental bird is the female turtle-dove. Should its mate chance to die, it never again alights on a leafy tree. It is remarkable for its chastity, but is averse from melody. If it hears the warbling of other birds it groans dismally. In winter time it loses its feathers, and shelters itself in holes and hollows. It is related of the woodpecker that if any one drives in a peg to close the entrance to the hole in the tree in which its nest is built it flies off in quest of a particular herb with which it touches the peg, whereupon it falls out. This, too, is curious. The hoopoe is unable to moult in a natural manner. Its young ones, therefore, pull out its feathers, and cover and feed her till they are full grown. The stork's young ones are not less filial. So long as the parent bird has provided for her brood, so long will her brood provide for her. On the other hand, the male crow is cruel to its offspring, and pecks at and beats them till their feathers are as black as his own. The vainest and silliest of all birds is the peacock. When it looks upon its brilliant plumage it is so delighted that it spreads out the glories of its tail, but when it looks down upon its feet it is so disgusted and so ashamed of itself that its tail droops to the ground. It is said to have the voice of a fiend, the head of a snake, and the gait of a thief. The swan likes to be accompanied by a harp, and is most melodious during the last year of its life. It is also interesting to learn that the swallow is capable of restoring sight to its "callow brood" when carried away into captivity and blinded. Any one gowing where snakes abound will do well to take with him some burned vulture's feathers. The heart of a vulture wrapped in the skin of a lion or of a wolf frightens away demons. It is quite untrue that vultures were originally a race of men who were cruel to the pygmies. But how is it that medical men do not make greater use of the caladrius? If this beautiful, snow-white little bird, which is a native of Jerusalem, be held in front of a man whose death is certain, it averts its head, and will in no wise look at him; but, if on the contrary, the sick man is destined to live in spite of his physicians, the caladrius turns to him, as John Trevisa expresses it, "faunynge and playsynge." —All the Year Round.

THE readiness, ease and grace of Jack W.'s extemporaneous lying commanded respectful attention wherever he went. No locality could be mentioned in a casual conversation but he would show himself to be familiar with it and that in some way it was connected with his family. When an allusion was made to the superiority of Goshen butter, he merely observed that Old Goshen, who first introduced it into general use, was his uncle. When, on another occasion, an allusion was made to the Natural bridge of Virginia, he remarked with an air of modesty that he knew all about it, and could give its dimensions with precision if desired, as his father was one of the contractors that built it. He was quite an artist in his way. —Texas Sittings.

How John Potts Was Repaid.

Thirty years ago a poor girl named Carrie Reper, in garments tattered and torn, wandered to the home of John Potts, a village blacksmith in what is now known as Brooklyn, Pa., a few miles from this city. Mr. Potts took the girl in and suggested to his wife that they adopt her, they having no children of their own. Mrs. Potts objected, feeling it her duty to take one of four of her sister's daughters, if it was deemed expedient to adopt a daughter. Mr. Potts would not listen to his wife's suggestions and determined to support the girl. He sent her to school in Bucks County, where she took up the study of music with her academic course, and graduated with high honors. Two years after she graduated Potts failed to learn of her whereabouts. His inquiries did not bring any tidings of the girl, and he gave her up as dead. His wife died in the spring of 1877, and he lived alone. He still continued his business as blacksmith, though unable to save anything from his earnings with which to pay a few mortgages on his property. Recently a strange lady appeared at the post-office in Brooklyn and introduced herself as Mrs. James Rutledge, of Pittsburgh, wife of a millionaire. She inquired for John Potts and was escorted to his home. The old gentleman recognized her at sight, and was overcome with joy at her appearance. The lady had come to take Potts to her home, where he was to enjoy the freedom of her home during his remaining days. She paid off the mortgages on the Potts property, purchased a handsome monument for the grave of Mrs. Potts, and started with her on a tour of her home in Pittsburgh. Soon after their arrival she made Potts a gift of $50,000 in United States bonds. —Carbonate Pa., Cor. N. Y. Sun.

The Modern Caucus.

An aged citizen who was one of the early settlers, was seen coming out on to the sidewalk in front of a place where a caucus was being held, a few nights before election, on his ear. He seemed to be propelled by some unseen power, and as he got up and picked up his hat out of the gutter, brushed the mud off his sleeve and wiped the blood off his nose, a friend went up to him and asked what was the matter. The old man said, "Well, I hain't attended a caucus in thirty year, but my nephew wanted me to go to-night, and when I proposed that the meeting be opened with prayer, I think the stove fell over on me. A fellow said, 'O, give us a rest,' and I don't know how I got out here, but I did. Why, in '49 they used to open political meetings with prayer, and close 'em the same way. This caucus opened with a knock down and I s'pose it will close with a riot. Hello, there is another man riding down stairs without any saddle, and I s'pose he proposed some old-fashioned custom. Say, do you think my eye will be black? I told the old lady I was goin' to meetin' and I wouldn't like to have her think I had lost my temper and struck the sexton. Well, that's the last politics for me." The old man, however, got a policeman to go with him while he voted on election day. —Milwaukee Sun.

A SYRACUSE Justice of the Peace postponed a trial on account of the death of the prisoner's mother, the prisoner asking the favor in piteous and tearful tones. When the trial was resumed two days after it was found that the prisoner had gone to Canada, and that his mother had been dead nine years. The justice says the next man that tries to play a corpse on him has got to produce the body or a certificate from the doctor who attended the deceased. That would seem to be fair.

FOR CONGRESS.

Fox Springs will be opened to the public July 7th.

The Tariff Commission was confirmed by the Senate without opposition.

The camp-meeting at Ruggles grounds will begin on the 17th day of August.

The wheat crop of Tennessee is nearly all harvested. It is of a very superior quality.

GEN. TOM YOUNG, of Ohio, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives to reduce the tax on whisky from ninety to fifty cents, to go into effect on the first of next October. Mr. Young has hopes that the bill will pass.

The trade dollar is at last to be retired, which will be a pleasant fact to contemplate, since it is almost as great a nuisance as punched half dollars. Two years are allowed for the purchase of them. Dollar for dollar, by the secretary of the treasury.

MR. REED, the counsel for Guiteau, has in his possession a great mass of letters from prominent physicians throughout the country protesting against the execution of the assassin on the ground of insanity. These letters he proposes to file with the President when he makes application for a commutation of sentence. The minister who has been attending Guiteau says the latter will never repent this side of the grave.

It is considered probable that an amendment will be added by the senate to the legislative appropriation bill changing the regulations relating to gaugers' pay from one-eighth of a cent a gallon for all over 800 gallons each day, subject to $5 per day limitation, as now provided to one-sixth of a cent a gallon for all over 800 gallons each day subject to $6 a day limitation; or, in other words, from $5 a day for 1,600 gallons gauged, to $6 a day for 2,000 gallons gauged. It is claimed that the low average days are so much more frequent than the high average days, that the change is necessary to make the wages hold out through the year.

The Republican members of the House of Representatives have agreed in caucus, to stand by the Kelly bill to reduce internal revenue taxation as reported by Mr. Kelly, striking out from the repealing clause all relating to bank capital and striking out from section two all relating to distilled spirits and malt liquors. The bill will then provide for repealing the stamp on bank checks, drafts, orders, vouchers, bank deposits, matches, perfumery and medical preparations. It reduces the tax on licences paid by dealers in tobacco and puts a tax on cigars at $5 a thousand and on cigarettes at $5 a thousand for all weighing more than three pounds to a thousand.

Being refused, they proceeded to hunt for it, and while so engaged were fired at by a son of Mr. Harris with a shotgun. The editor of the Des Moines Register makes an appeal to the people of the country for aid for sufferers by the recent cyclone in Iowa. He makes the following statement: "The tornado made a swath of destruction through a thickly-settled portion of Iowa, some one hundred and fifty miles in length and an average of half a mile in width. We have names now of sixty-nine dead and five hundred wounded. Half of the latter are grievously hurt, and probably a fifth of them fatally. Over three hundred families have had their homes totally destroyed, and there are now at least fifteen hundred homeless and in want. The loss in property will exceed two millions of dollars, and may reach three millions."

The Paris Kentuckian, referring to the marriage recently of Miss Lizzie Pike to Mr. Charles Speigle, at Cincinnati, says of the bride:

The bride is remembered by many of our citizens as a bright-eyed rosy-cheeked little girl of more than ordinary intelligence for one of her tender years, and who removed with her father's family to Maysville early in 1865. As she grew up to woman's estate, her amiable disposition made her a great favorite with her schoolmates, and all others who formed her acquaintance.

Says the Vanceburg Courier:

A pretty party consisting of John Whitaker, Attorney-General of Mason county, Hon. Ed. Fitzgerald, Governor-General of Maysville police force, and Sam Riley, only a bank cashier, came up Wednesday and spent a pleasant Thursday with T. B. Harrison, viewing the scenery and wonders of Kinny. It was Mr. Riley's first visit and he was much pleased with our little city, but expressed great surprise that so much business could be conducted here without a bank. He thinks a bank could be secured for this place in a week's time if the right man would make the proper effort. The right man will please step forward and go to doing something.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electricities do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment; I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed he used Dr. Frazier's Magic Ointment and was cured by a few applications.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

To the Executive Committee and all Democrats of Mason.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., June 21, 1882.

Gentlemen: In accepting the chairmanship of the Executive Committee, I fully realize that I have a task of labor before me, and, unless I have the hearty co-operation of all of you, especially the members of the committee, we cannot hope to bring out the full strength of the party in the coming August election.

We now have an excellent county ticket in the field. Every one was nominated fairly and honestly and in accordance with the rules and usages of the party. Each nominee is capable of discharging the duties that will devolve upon him, when elected, and I can see no reason for any fair minded man declining to vote the entire ticket. Not only should all of us vote for our nominee, but we should work for them, and speak a good word for them, and see that our neighbors go to the polls and vote for them. I believe it is the growing sentiment in this county, that the only safe rule of conduct, from a political standpoint, is to support the nominees of your party; and those who have violated this rule in Mason county, have had cause to sincerely regret it, and most of them are now earnest, zealous workers, for the entire ticket.

I doubt, if there is a man in the county, who does not honestly regret, that James Guilfoyle was defeated for jailer, and I hope there will not be one who will decline to vote for Dennis Fitzgerald for jailer. He should receive the united support of the party, because he received the nomination fairly, is competent to fill the office, and is a live, industrious business man, and a good and useful citizen.

I specially mention the jailer, because our republican friends have singled out that officer, and nominated a man against him, and are busily appealing to the prejudices of race and religion, to elect their nominee.

Such appeals should be and will be, in vain for our nominee, in race, religion, color and previous condition, is the equal of the republican nominee, and in politics and success as a business man, vastly the superior. Vote early, fellow democrats, and see that the republicans do not vote often.

The rallying committees in each precinct are earnestly requested to co-operate with me and the members of Executive Committee from each precinct, and I trust that each will regard his appointment as one requiring active work, and not a mere form.

Mason is one of the largest and wealthiest counties in the State. She is Democratic to the core. Let us make her the banner county of the State in August. Let petty spite and jealousy and private animosity be buried, and let us all work, solely and singly to elect our nominees.

GARRETT S. WALL,
Ch'm'n. Dem. Ex. Com.

Dr. James Shackelford.

The Carlisle Mercury says: Dr. James Shackelford, of Maysville, is very favorably spoken of in connection with the Congressional race. The Mt. Olive Tribune, speaking of him in that connection, says: "The Doctor is one of Kentucky's gifted noblemen, intuitively and intellectually a polished gentleman, affable and courteous in his intercourse with the people, be they rich or poor; painstaking in every official trust confided to his keeping, he has the confidence of the business man, the farmer, the mechanic and the laborer." To all of which we assent most heartily.

The nomination of Dr. Jas. Shackelford would be very acceptable to the Democrats of Mason. In point of ability he is the peer of any public man in this part of the State and there is no sounder Democrat in the district. Every one who knows his worth as a citizen of unblemished integrity and high intellectual attainments will endorse every word of the commendatory extract we have published above.

Shall We Have a Fair.

In another column will be found a card to the public from the management of the fair company, calling for assistance. This is a public institution and every person who lives in Mason county is the beneficiary. It infuses new life into the business of Maysville; it brings strangers from every section to our city, it introduces us to the outside world as a thriving, pushing, enterprising people. It plants ambition in the breasts of the agriculturists, it spurs the stock raiser to improvement in his grades, it brings all together in friendly contest, and to those who have neither business nor stock it furnishes a cheap and beneficial entertainment. We cannot afford to let it languish. We must aid and assist it in every possible way, until its indebtedness is liquidated, when it will at once become more than self sustaining and be a source of perpetual pleasure and profit to the people of this community, and to those who are attracted by such enterprises, to make this their future homes. All of Cincinnati's attractions were made by the public spirited citizens, last year its business men making up a guarantee fund of $75,000 to sustain the exposition. Louisville's business men give $10,000 in special premiums to the fair to be given in that city, this fall, the city of Richmond, Va., has just advanced to the fair company of that place $30,000, to put it out of debt and make it a permanent blessing to the people. A city or town is what its people make it. Either a dusty, dried up, God-forsaken place, with grass growing in its streets and moss covering its grades, or a liberal, thriving pushing community, with the hum of busy industry in all its avenues of business, in all the branches of trade and prosperity among all the people. There is money enough and prospective business enough in Maysville to warrant our citizens in raising at least $3,000 in special premiums. Will they do it? What do you say? Will you do your part, or will you sit back on your dignity and complain that "Maysville is an old foggy place and has got no business about it." The management of this association have given their time and advanced their money freely to aid the enterprise, and deserve the praises of all good citizens. They have done largely more than their part, and it is plainly "your turn next."

There are five printing offices in the city let them join together and give $25 each, making a nice purse of $125. Three banks say $100 each, hotels $250 each, and other business in proportion and the amount will soon be raised, the fair established and made self-sustaining and the people soon prosperous enough to take up and add some new attraction to the city.

Moonlight Fete.

A moonlight fete, the first of a series to be given during the season, will take place this evening in East Maysville, under the auspices of Messrs. Charles Whittington, Levi Culbertson and Charles Dawson. The dancing will take place under a large tent which has been provided and the music will be furnished by the East Maysville band. The best of order will be maintained and a general good time may be expected. Everybody is invited.

The Flemingsburg Democrat says:

Rev. H. M. Scudder announced on a recent Sabbath that the 6th of this month was the anniversary of the 24th year of his pastorate at Elizaville. During that time he had received upwards of three hundred and fifty persons into the Presbyterian Church here; baptized one hundred and twelve infants, preached nearly two hundred funeral sermons and married over two hundred couples.

The Republicans of Lewis county have nominated candidates for local offices as follows: County Judge, A. W. Fryer; County Attorney, S. J. Pugh; County Clerk, T. A. Mitchell; Sheriff, J. H. Garrett; Assessor, H. C. Myers; Jailer, J. W. Cottingham; Surveyor, J. W. Keyser; Coroner, Dr. J. W. Wells.

To the chairmen of Democratic Executive Committees of the counties of Boyd, Bracken, Carter, Fleming, Martin, Mason, Greenup, Johnson, Lewis, Lawrence, Nicholas, Rowan and Robertson:

Please meet me at Grayson, Carter county, on Thursday, July 6, 1882, at 12 o'clock m., for the purpose of arranging, time, place, and for holding a convention to nominate a candidate for congress in this the 9th congressional district.

Respectfully.

W. H. DAUGHERTY, Ch'm'n.

PITH AND POINT.

MONEY orders—Well, who says it doesn't?

Boaz of the Bible had his Ruth, but modern bores are ruthless.

A CUTE little Cleveland girl always calls sausages "scrap bags."

THE poll on which no tax has ever been levied—The North pole.

THE Irishman's definition of prophecy—The memory of events that have not yet transpired.

A SOCIABLE man is one who, when he has ten minutes to spare, goes and bothers somebody who hasn't.

"Mamma," asked a little girl, "why is it they sing in church, 'We'll dine no more,' and then they go right home and dine?"

At a house where they do a great deal of fancy work and keep a white poolie, an innocent gentleman asked, "Who knit the dog?"

LITTLE GEORGIE, 2½ years of age, on seeing the first snow fall, called out, "Mamma, mamma, bring a big pan, it's waining pop-corn."

"My boy," said a conscientious teacher, "do you know the reason why I'm going to whip you?" "Yes," replied the hopeful, "because you're bigger than I am."

EUGENE FIELD'S rendition: "The title of Mr. Tennyson's new patriotic poem is 'Hands all Round.' Translated into Colorado vernacular, this is simply, 'Deal and pass the buck.'"

WASHINGTON scene: Deep-voiced guzzler—"Hi, waiter! bring me three more schooners!" Awe-struck spectators, whispering: "That must be the new Secretary of the Navy."

THEY were popping corn in the kitchen, and popping corn is very pretty work. "Do look," said Jessie, "they go in naked babies, and they come out snow-white angels and fairies."

He had owned a setter dog, and this was the story he told: "Yes, sir; the way that dog was devoted to me was just amazing. Why, he heard me say to my wife that I was pressed for money, and he went and died the day before the dog-tax was assessed."—Boston Post.

A LITTLE girl, not years old, and who had got a piano and organ somewhat confused in her thoughts, was taken to church to hear the services. Her father was the preacher, and she evidently thought he performed all services, for when asked, "What did papa do?" she replied, "He peached and pay'd, and sung, and played on the peorgan."

SOME years ago a bright little fellow was taken to church for the first time. He was passionately fond of his pastor, and through all the preaching he eyed him closely, bending forward with open mouth, as though he was drinking in every word. He evidently thought it a wonderful performance, for just as his pastor had closed he put up his little hands and clapped them as he exclaimed, "Bully for you!" There was a scene in that church.

AN Irishman while at work on the Illinois and Michigan canal was taken very ill, and while the doctor who had been called in was examining his patient his sympathizing friends who had gathered in were anxiously watching the doctor. Finally, wishing to examine his tongue, the doctor told him to open his mouth. A jocular Irishman, seeing him looking intently into the sick man's mouth, earnestly asked: "And how could might he be?"

At a debating society, the subject was being debated, "Which is indicative of the best understanding, a large or small head?" The discussion was very lengthy and spirited on both sides, and even the President seemed puzzled to know which way to decide. At length a long, gaunt man (one of the bystanders), becoming exasperated at the length of the discussion, arose, strode up to the President, and, putting his arms akimbo and changing his quid of tobacco from one cheek to the other, said very decidedly: "See here, Mister President! the idea of forcin' a peck of brains into a pint measure is a perfect humbug; it's something that can't be did." It is needless to add the President decided in favor of large heads.

THE CHEAPEST AND THE BEST.
THE ONLY PRACTICAL CASE.
The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candied, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case without rehandling.
For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.
The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.
